

MY REINCARNATION

MY REINCARNATION is a documentary film shot over 20-years with the esteemed Tibetan Buddhist master, Chögyal Namkhai Norbu, and his son, Khyentse Yeshe. Filmed around the world, from Italy to Venezuela, from Russia to Tibet and back again, the film is an insiders look at the passing of spiritual knowledge from a Tibetan Master to his Western-born son. In a world where indigenous cultures are lost and homogenized every day, MY REINCARNATION is a rare positive story of cultural transplantation, adaptation and renewal that gives hope for the future of Tibetan culture in exile.

When Namkhai Norbu Rinpoche fled Tibet in 1958, he was invited to teach as a Professor in Italy. There he married and had a son, Yeshe, who was recognized at birth as the reincarnation of Rinpoche's uncle, a great Dzogchen master, killed by the Chinese. Against the traditional route, Rinpoche refused to send his son to India to be trained in a monastery. He believed that if Yeshe were truly the reincarnation of his Uncle, he would manifest his own capacity over time. When Yeshe grew up, he became a corporate executive, married, and had a family. But slowly dreams and visions from his past life began to infiltrate his daily life. Even the most esoteric Dzogchen texts his father taught suddenly became clear. Yeshe realized he must go back to Tibet, to the monastery of his previous reincarnation to meet the old students waiting for him since birth....

Now is a crucial moment for Tibet, as the last of the great non-monastic Tibetan trained reincarnate teachers remain alive. If we don't capture some of their true spiritual heritage now—more than just a few esoteric scenes, but a living tradition—it will be lost forever. Never before, and very possibly never again, will a Tibetan Buddhist master allow such access to his day to day life over a 20 year period.

"The film is a wonderful way for people to be introduced to the Teachings. The film shows the real method of practice integrated in ordinary life, not just in a ritual way."

-Chögyal Namkhai Norbu
